

Home Learning due to the School Closure

I hope this email finds you and your loved ones well during this difficult period. Firstly, many thanks for your support with your child/children's learning on various online learning platforms. I am delighted with the quality of work produced by some of the children.

With the great success of remote learning at the end of last term resulting in an increase in your child's use of the internet and devices, I believe it is essential to update you with the latest advice from both the government and education providers regarding online safety.

Please visit www.leopoldprimary.co.uk to access the school's latest advice and resources for remote learning and how to continue to navigate the internet safely.

Your child should have a login for each of the following.

- Purple Mash
- Seesaw or Microsoft Teams
- IXL Maths

If you are not aware of your child's login(s), please email the class teacher on the email address below:

From Monday 29th, 9am onwards, <https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/dailylessons> will be covering daily lessons from year 1 to year 10, on a new TV channel, podcasts, videos, and lessons online.

In addition, <https://www.thenational.academy/> launched today offering online lessons and resources to support home learning.

Remember that we have a home learning tab at <http://www.leopoldprimary.co.uk/resources-online-activities/> Home learning will still predominately be set through PurpleMash, Seesaw and IXL.

We would love to celebrate excellent writers on our website. If you would like your child/children's work to be published then please email a scanned copy or photograph of work to leopoldwriters@leopold.brent.sch.uk

As we continue this period of remote learning, should you wish to communicate with your child's class teacher during the closure please do so via ClassDojo or the email addresses listed above. Stay safe, keep well and do keep in touch with us. You'll never walk alone!

Kind Regards,
